

BISHOP TO ATTEND CATHOLIC MEETING AT GENEVA IN SEPT.

The Rt. Rev. John F. Noll is Chosen as Representative of the United States to Speak at International Conference.

There will be held in Geneva, Switzerland, an International Catholic Week from the 15th to the 22nd of September, to which the National Catholic Welfare Conference was asked to send a special delegate. When it was learned that the Bishop of Fort Wayne would attend the important centenary celebration at Budapest, Hungary, he was asked to represent the Catholics of the United States at Geneva, and to address the Convention on the condition of the Catholic Church in the United States. Such an International Catholic Week was held last year for the first time.

The Comte de Reynold, writing to Father John Burke, C. S. P., Executive Secretary of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, says: "After having affirmed last year the eternal unity of Catholicism, we wish to confirm in 1930 its universality, its capacity for adaptation to races and to very different places. That is why we have decided to make appeals to the greatest knights of contemporary Catholicism, as, for example, Monsignor Baudrillard for France, Papini for Italy, Sigrid Undset for the Scandinavian Catholics. We have thought of you for the United States; we would wish you to speak for Catholicism in the United States, its progress, its organization, its apostolate."

In a later letter received from Geneva, Father Burke was told that this International Week will be held at the same time that the Assembly of the League of Nations meets in Geneva; that every night for a week a prominent Catholic from a different country will give an address on the situation of Catholicism in his own country.

The orator for the first day will be Monsignor Seipel, ex-Chancellor of the Austrian Republic; the second day Monsignor Baudrillard, of the Catholic Institute in Paris; the third day Father Paywara, S. J., the well known German philosopher; the fourth day M. Paderewski, former President of the Republic of Poland; the fifth day, M. de Belloc, of England; the sixth day Bishop Noll.

These men have already accepted a part on the program. Favorable answers are being awaited from M. Paderewski, the famous Italian historian, and from a prominent English man of letters. Because of this additional duty, the Right Reverend Bishop will be unable to return from Europe as early as he expected. But he feels that he should make this sacrifice if by doing so he can help the Church in an international way.

Bishop Pontificates for the First Time in Former Parish Church

Last Monday the Right Reverend Bishop observed his Fifth Anniversary in the Episcopate at Huntington. He pontificated at St. Mary's Church of which he had been pastor for fifteen years. Despite the rainy weather, sixty or more priests were in attendance although they were only informally invited to join the Catechists and our Sunday Visitor employees in observing the anniversary of the Bishop. Following the Pontifical Mass an excellent dinner was served by the Catechists at Victory-Noll one mile west of the city. At the end of the dinner the Vicar-General, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John P. Durham, in the name of the priests, presented His Lordship with a purse which was to establish a Bursar for the education of some poor boy for the priesthood. It has become quite well known that, after the Orphans, this has been the pet charity of the Bishop.

The Catechists did themselves honor not only by the excellent meal, but by the program which followed the banquet. Representing Our Sunday Visitor, Mr. Charles Niezer, of Fort Wayne, representing the staff, presented the Bishop to replace the car with which Our Sunday Visitor presented him five years ago, as the Bishop does not care for the replacement until his return from Europe. His Lordship told the priests that if he thought they were to be asked to contribute toward a present, he would not have announced any observance of his anniversary, nor would he have invited them to join him. The present was all the more appreciated because it was never dreamed of.

Bishop Honored At St. Mary's

The Sisters of the Holy Cross at their Motherhouse at Notre Dame perpetrated a delightful surprise on the Right Reverend Bishop by giving a dinner in his honor to all the priests connected with Notre Dame University. It was on the Bishop's feast day, June 24th, but it was also to honor his fifth anniversary.

It has been the custom of the Bishop to officiate at St. Mary's on August 15th, on which date, this year, the Diamond Jubilee of the Holy Cross Sisters will find its culmination. Since the Bishop will be in Europe on that day, a big Diamond Jubilee cake was cut at the dinner on June 24th.

Youngest Archbishop

Feels He Has "Reached Port." He Says—Will Study For Priesthood—Pays Tribute To Kindly Attitude Of Episcopal People and Catholics—Will Write Book on Conversion.

New York.—Dr. Seiden P. Delany, until recently rector of one of the most prominent Episcopalian churches in the country, the Church of St. Mary the Virgin here, and for thirty years an Episcopal minister, was formally admitted to the Catholic Church here recently. Msgr. Joseph H. McMahon administered baptism to him at the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes, after which he received Holy Communion. The Rt. Rev. J. J. Dunn, Auxiliary Bishop of New York, administered Confirmation at the Church of the Annunciation. Cardinal Hayes was prevented from officiating at this sacrament by his absence on retreat.

Dr. Delany will now go to Rome, where he will spend a period of preparation, at Beda College for ordination as a Catholic priest.

The convert was a member of the Presbyterian Church in his youth, but entered the Episcopal Church while a student at Harvard. He was received into the Catholic Church on his fifty-sixth birthday.

Dr. Delany is preparing a book, which will be published in August by the Dial Press, giving his reasons and the mental processes which led him to the Catholic Church. Its tentative title is "Why Rome?"

Happy, Thankful For Kindness. Commenting on his emotions at making the change, Dr. Delany said he felt that he has "reached port" after a long storm-tossed voyage, and that he has "now reached a position in which I am thoroughly in accord with my surroundings." In the Episcopal Church, he added, he always had the feeling of conflict with its surroundings and that he was "waging war" against his brethren.

"Now I feel that I can work in collaboration with all my brethren in the Catholic Church," he said, "both clergy and laity, as we hold the same faith and practice our religion in the same way."

Dr. Delany spoke gratefully of the kindly treatment he had received from both clergy and laity of the Episcopal Church, then paid equal tribute to the kindness and wisdom of representatives of the Catholic Church.

American Physicians Make Visit to Lourdes

Paris.—A mission composed of a hundred English and American physicians who have been visiting various French thermal stations, visited Lourdes and asked for an interview with Bishop Gerlier. The majority of them are Protestants, but when they learned at Lourdes that they were near Lourdes, they decided to visit the site of so many miraculous cures.

When Bishop Gerlier had welcomed them to his home, one of the doctors expressed the satisfaction of his traveling companions at being able to make a short halt in this corner of the earth that enjoys a world-wide reputation and which, without distinction of religious confession, "can be visited," he said, "only with respect."

After responding to this formal address, the Bishop of Lourdes escorted them to the grotto and its sanctuaries. The mission then visited the Bureau des Constatations Medicales. Dr. Vallet, director of the bureau, explained his duties, presented his staff and described, in English, three cases of miraculous cures which greatly interested his audience.

In taking leave of Bishop Gerlier, the physicians expressed thanks for their reception and displayed great interest in what they had seen.

MEXICO CATHEDRAL WILL BE RETURNED TO THE HIERARCHY

Government, However, Will Retain Title to Valuable Vestments, Sacred Vessels, the Library, Archives and Council Chamber.

Mexico City.—The Government of Mexico, following long negotiations, will soon return to the Catholic Church authorities the Cathedral of Mexico City and the Sagrario Metropolitano, the parish church adjoining it. The decree bringing this about already has been signed. This property has been held by the Government since 1926, and its return at this time will be subject to certain conditions.

The Government, in returning the Cathedral property, has determined not to give back to the Church authorities the very rich and valuable vestments and sacred vessels dating back to the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries, the library or the archives. The Government has agreed, however, not to remove these properties from the Cathedral premises, but to permit them to remain as a museum that will be open to the public. This, of course, does not mean that the Government admits the vestments, books and documents, to be the property of the Cathedral. Representatives of the Church authorities have thought it advisable, despite this contention of the Government, to accept the return of these two principal churches of this city, and to see what can be done in the future with regard to the other points.

The church of "La Soledad," the first church taken by the Calles Government, the seizure of which started the religious persecution, will also be returned to the Church authorities.

Marshal Foch's Piety Recalled at Unveiling Of Memorial Plaque

Paris.—Three or four miles from Amiens, in the village of Dury, a commemorative plaque has been placed at the entrance to the chateau where Marshal Foch had his headquarters on two occasions—during the battle of the Somme in 1916, and during the defense of the Anglo-French front against the German offensive in the spring of 1918.

Before the ceremony, the widow of Marshal Foch and her daughter, Mme. Fournier-Foch, were present at Mass in the church where the deceased commander had so often prayed. They also visited the cathedral of Amiens, where they were received by Bishop Lecomte.

The principal orator at the unveiling ceremony, which occurred in the afternoon, was General Weygand, Chief of Staff of the Army, the pupil and confidant of Foch. He ended his discourse with these words: "The heart of Foch rendered homage to two things—Heaven and his soldiers."

A native Sister of Charity, the first in the history of the Catholic Church, has just received her habit in Madagascar. She is surrounded by a group of admiring pupils.

OFFICIAL

The Bishop wishes to thank the priests, the good Sisters, Catechists and others who have thought of him in their prayers, in warm messages of appreciation, and in gifts on his anniversary.

Particularly is the Bishop grateful for the Bursar which the priests presented to him for the education of a worthy poor boy for the Holy Priesthood. It has been named the Father John Gundling Bursar.

URGE MORE PRIEST TEACHERS FOR OUR CATHOLIC SCHOOLS

Catholic Educators in Session in New Orleans Also Advocate Establishment of More Clinics for Children—Other Important Resolutions.

New Orleans, La.—A resolution urging that more priests teach in the Catholic schools was adopted at the twenty-seventh annual meeting of the National Catholic Educational Association which closed here recently. This action by the Association came after an address by the Rev. Dr. George Johnson of the Catholic University of America, Executive Secretary of the N. C. W. C. Department of Education and Secretary General of the N. C. E. A., who suggested that priests might well relieve the nuns of the work of doctrinal instruction in the schools, and that the change might be beneficial in the teaching of boy pupils.

Other resolutions adopted by the Association recommended the establishment of clinics and the creation of special facilities for the study of the problem child; the establishment of local and national parent-teacher associations; the adoption by the Parish School Department of the Association of control of art exhibits and that the Department seek to stimulate more interest in this work in Catholic schools; the establishment of classes for underprivileged children instead of leaving them to the care of the State.

Beautiful Mission Church Dedicated at Rochester, July 13th

Rochester's new St. Joseph Catholic church, lately completed, will be dedicated on Sunday, July 13th, at 10:00 a. m., Central Standard Time. The ceremony proper will be in charge of the Rt. Rev. Bishop. Solemn High Mass will be sung by the former pastor of the Rochester Mission, the Rev. The new St. Joseph's church has been erected on a most ideal location, Federal Road 31 at Thirtieth St. Its architecture is of Spanish Mission lines most beautifully carried out in tan brick and Bedford stone.

The dedication dinner, for which already hundreds of tickets have been sold and reservations made, will be held at the Colonial Hotel and Terrace Gardens where two thousand cars can be parked under police protection. During the afternoon a special program is promised by the hotel management from the orchestra shell adjoining the great outdoor dancing pavilion.

Possibility of Pope Visiting Erin in 1932 Rouses Discussion

Dublin.—Remarks uttered by Archbishop Paschal Robinson, O. F. M., Papal Nuncio to Ireland, during an address to an assembly of Irish Bishops at Maynooth College have been taken to indicate a possible visit by the Pope to Ireland in 1932, the year the International Eucharistic Congress will be held in Dublin. This interpretation has led to widespread discussion.

The report of the Nuncio's address states that the Archbishop was relating to the Bishops the farewell conversation between His Holiness and himself at an audience that immediately preceded his departure for Ireland. The Nuncio, it is stated, quoted the Holy Father as follows: "Monsignor, as you know, I wish I were going as Nuncio to Ireland." The Pope, it was said, continued his remarks, explaining that he wished to do this not only because he loved Ireland and was interested in its people, but also because there were certain things and places in Ireland he would like to see, and certain manuscripts he would like to examine. "If I had not been elected Pope," the Holy Father is further quoted as saying: "I would have been in Ireland before this and seen all the things I have mentioned to this."

To this Archbishop Robinson remarked: "Holy Father, since it is no longer impossible for you to leave the Vatican, it is not impossible for you to visit Ireland."

"Monsignor," His Holiness is said to have replied, "it is not impossible, but it would be difficult." Archbishop Robinson, commenting on this conversation, said to the Bishops:

"A visit of the present or any other Pope to Ireland would be a momentous event in the full sense of the word. It would occasion an unparalleled rejoicing throughout the Free State."

It was at first feared that he had sustained a skull fracture. His recovery is expected, though he will likely be confined to the hospital for some time. One of the first pictures to arrive in this country showing an actual scene of the 1930 presentation of the Passion Play at Oberammergau.
